Theta Pi Delta Award Recipients

The Theta Pi Delta awards are given to individuals who have contributed outstanding service to Union College. Each year the recipients of this senior service award represent the qualities that Miss Frances Patridge has exhibited during her years of loyal service to Union College, the students, the faculty, and the administration. This award expresses the ideal, "Thelo Pistos Diakonein," or "I wish to Serve Faithfully".

The 1972-73 Student Senate worked throughout its term to further student-administration-faculty relations. With this goal in mind, Senators were active on several campus committees, including the new Retention Committee whose specific concern is discovering ways of improving Union's academic and social environment. This year's Senate surveyed the Student body for an evaluation of the Interim Semester, and it initiated an evaluation of Union College's faculty.

The Competitive . . .

The 1972-73 version of Union College basketball fell far short of pre-season expectations. Unable to reach the .500 plateau during the season, the Bulldogs fought overwhelming odds and aggressive opponents during what was to be a bleak winter in terms of team victories.

But the traditional Union magic, at times, was definitely there. Bill Swafford, last season's "player of the year" in the KIAC, was hampered from the outset of the year with a nagging ankle injury. The 6-4 forward did recover in time, however, to retain his classic set shot, which has been a trademark of recent Bulldog basketball.

Phil Storm, Union's captain and senior playmaker, stretched his hustling frame downcourt this season and became the team's leading scorer. The EKU transfer supplied the hot hand in a majority of the Bulldog's victories, and often was the top point man in the face of defeat.

The other half of Union's backcourt combination came in the form of 5-9 senior Larry "The Rock" Sizemore. The former Clay County player sparked the Bulldogs in crucial game-point situations, driving against opponents usually sporting much larger dimensions. He was a catalyst on a team dependent in the past upon 30-foot shots and erroneous passes.

Junior forward and guard Grady Wilson continued to find more room in the courtside boxes than on the floor, throwing scares into the opposition as well as some vantage point spectators. His superb abundance of timely steals and defensive play kept the 'Dogs in many games that by all accounts should have been one-sided.

Roger Baldridge, the team's mischief maker who found a home on the bench in the season's latter stages, was earmarked for stardom at the beginning of the season. What made that sentencing ironical was: Exhibit A: At the outset of the season, Coach Pete Moore said of Roger: "He is unorthodox in some of the things he does, but he has convinced me he knows what he is doing." It would seem that there was no room for unorthodoxy on the floor when the Bulldogs began their demise.

As a team, the Bulldogs remained constant during the season, while their opponents achieved equity. Teams that were easy pickings last season devoured Union. It was a distorted welcome, perhaps, for Pete Moore, returning to Union following a one-year sabbatical at the University of Alabama. He found many new faces waiting in orange and black sweats for his guidance, along with some returning allies.

But with Georgetown's re-entry into the KIAC, and Cumberland's perennial domination continuing, the Bulldog's hopes for a conference title vanished. Campbellsville, Pikeville and Oakland City also topped Union in regular season play, and only Berea became a double victim of the 'Dogs.

It was not a year to flourish, or to mourn. Union put its best on the floor, but found that was not enough. It was a year to learn the facts, and to face them the best they could.

Union College Bullfrogs

The Union College swimming squad was evaluated at the outset of the season by its player-coach, Stew Cleveland, to be the strongest – man for man – in the school's history. Those who perspired at poolside watching Hoffmans, Spahns and Clevelands compete against such powers as Morris-Harvey, the University of Louisville and Centre, would wholeheartedly agree with Cleveland's prophecy. Although the team forfeited many winning meets in an otherwise respectable season (due to an overlooked eligibility error), the 'Frogs set an ironclad foundation for the future. With a combination of seasoned veterans and eager freshmen, Union fans this past season felt a taste of psychological victory that will long be remembered.

The competitive spirit was ignited in the winter of '72 when several fraternities joined ranks with their sister sororities in a fierce volleyball contest among the organizations. After many rough and tough games, the tournament ended with the Iranian team, "Shady", emerging as champions.

Basketball Intramurals

The intramural basketball program at Union College gave many talented men a chance to show their skills on the court. The six squads performed with few onlookers in the stands, but those who came forth to participate in the contest have come and gone with a better understanding of what a sportsman really is.

Golf and Cross Country

Prior to 1972's mediocre showing, Union College's golfers had won the KIAC golf championship for two consecutive seasons.

During those fateful years, the team's major asset was consistency. Last fall, it was consistent adversity which wrecked havoc into the team's conference domination.

From the outset, it was a season earmarked for the makings of Gilbert and Sullivan act. At the Middlesboro Invitational, Coach Dave Cantrell enlisted the services of a Barbourville native, senior Richie Miller, for his fifth-seeded player.

Miller's performance was impressive, in lieu of the fact he had not touched a golf club for over a month. But this morale booster, as it turned out, was not enough to offset a 7-6-1 conference record.

The Union College cross-country team placed high in two late-season tournaments to cap a season many veteran observers felt was the best in recent history.

Freshman Chris Pierce, Paul Assini and Martin Pepe led the Bulldogs' assault on their conference rivals, as they placed third in the KIAC, five points behind Oakland City.

Senior Al Peretard, junior long-distance runner Chip Crystal, the only two squad members who had competed previously for Union, provided valuable depth to the team.

Girls' Volleyball Team

Union College, abandoned its chauvinism this year and found itself with an intercollegiate girl's volleyball team. Coached by Mrs. Mildred Hacker, the squad competed against Kentucky colleges during the season including participation in an invitational tournament at Eastern Kentucky University. The girls deserve a nod of the hat for inaugurating Union's plunge into athletic femininity.
